Title of the state level Seminar: Reflections on Satyajit Ray as a Cinematic Story teller
Organised by : Film Club

Date : 02.05.2024

Invited speaker/guests (mention with designation and institution name) : Dr. Subhajit Chatterjee, Assistant professor, film studies, Jadavpur University

Topic of the speech : Satyajit Ray's vision as an auteur story-teller.

Brief Report (300-400 Words Appx):

Satyajit Ray's cinematic oeuvre has 29 feature films, 05 documentary films and 02 shortfilms. Satyajit Ray's first documentary film was released in 1961, and it was on Rabindranath Tagore. It was on the request of Jawaharlal Nehru, the then Prime Minister of India, Ray produced this film. The Inner Eye (1972) was another documentary film by Satyajit Ray. Benode Bihari Mukherjee, the blinded art teacher and Ray's guru at Visva-Bharati University at Shantiniketan, was the subject of this documentary. This 20-minute Eastmancolor film, written and directed by Ray, won the Best Informative Film in 1973 National Film Awards. Except two films, a Hindi/Urdu feature film Shatranj ke Khiladi (Player of Chess, 19...) and the English documentary film Bala, on the Bharatanatyam danseuse from Tamil Nadu, all films of Ray were in Bengali language. Kanchenjunga, released in 1962, was Satyajit Ray's first colour film, and it was his first film made with his own original script. His last film was titled Agantuk (The Stranger) and it was released in 1991, a year before his death. In 1991, an Honorary Oscar Award was also accorded on Satyajit Ray, "in recognition of his rare mastery of the art of motion pictures and for his profound humanitarian outlook, which he has had an indelible influence on filmmakers and audiences throughout the world." (Oscars.org). The Government of India accorded on Ray its highest civilian award, Bharat Ratna, in 1992. Ray had always been a great cinephile, right from his teenage days. He believed in founding a healthy cinema culture in India. He was chiefly instrumental in founding the second film society in India, the Calcutta Film Society (CSF), established in 1947. The first film society in India was the Mumbai Film Society, which was established in 1946. The Calcutta Film Society got registered on 05 October 1947 and along with Satyajit Ray, Chidananda Dasgupta, Purnendu Narayan, Manojendu Majumdar also played key roles in establishing CFS. The Major influences on Satyajit Ray, the filmmaker include: Bibhutibhushan Bandopadhyaya, Rabindranath Tagore, Vittorio De Sica, Jean Renoir, Akira Kurosawa. The Japanese filmmaker Akira Kurosawa has famously opined that, "Not to have seen the cinema of Ray means existing in the world without seeing the sun or the moon." Satyajit Ray is basically a character creator. Stereotyping characters has never been his filmic method. Humanity caught in a web of intricate relationships amongst themselves at various times and various emotional phases represents most of Ray's protagonists. The complex Indian extended family, its personal, casteist, social and cultural bondages and the process of modernization of a

Title of the national Seminar : The Camera as a Stylus: A discourse on Auteur and Authorship in Indian Cinema
Organised by : Film Club

Date : 16.12.2023

Invited speaker/guests (mention with designation and institution name) : 1. Dr. Anindya Sengupta, assistant professor, film studies, jadavpur university
2. Suavo Mukherjee, Teaching faculty, Cinematography for EDM, SRFTI

Topic of the speech : "The director as a cinematic author". Dr. Sengupta spoke on the contribution of Satyajit Ray, Ritwik Ghatak, and Mrinal Sen on Bengali Cinema. Their role as auteur directors influencing the cinematic landscape. The role of Guru Dutt in experimental Hindi cinema. Mr. Mukherjee spoke on the practical aspects of auteur driven cinema and a history of auteurs in world cinema.

Brief Report (300-400 Words Appx):

The term 'auteur' is the French term for author and became a part of the film studies register in the 1950's after the debate on the "polemic about authors" or the politique des auteurs, when the French film critics associated with the film magazine Cahiers du cinema adopted the term to recognize the director of the film as its author. It is he who is responsible for the aesthetic quality of the film. The critics came to be known as the Cahiers critics and included critics like François Truffaut and Jean-Luc Godard, who argued that since the director controlled all the aspects of film making and editing, it is only he who can employ them effectively to produce the desired aesthetic effect. The final artistic result is not the script writer's but the director's visualization has already been discussed in the section on film as art. The cinema in west saw great auteurs like Alfred Hitchcock (Psycho), Akira Kurosawa,

Woody Allen, Steven Spielberg, etc. whose films have been recognized for their aesthetic and artistic value and stand apart from the others of their genre, as they carry the distinct signature style of their directors. The New Hollywood wave of 1970's also called the 'American New Wave' contributed to the propagation of the auteur theory as it shifted the focus from the studio system to the director.

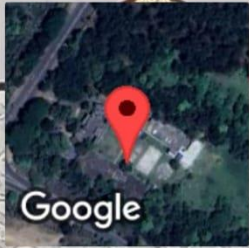

Dr. Mahananda Kanjilal
Principal
Durgapur Women's College

The Indian Cinema has produced some great auteurs beginning with the likes of Satyajit Ray, Shyam Benegal, Sanjay Leela Bhansali, Anurag Kashyap, Ashutosh Gowaridkar. These auteurs have effectively shifted the focus of the film from the protagonist to themselves, and thus the films have started being called, for example “A Sanjay Leela Bhansali film” instead of a “Shah Rukh Khan movie. This seminar spotlighted on the auteurs of Indian cinema who contributed greatly to the Indian cinematic space.

One Day National Seminar on

The Camera as a Stylus: A Discourse on Auteur and Authorship in Indian Cinema

Auteur theory is the theory of filmmaking, in which the director is viewed as a major creative force in a motion picture. In 1948, Alexandre Astruc formulated the concept of caméra-stylo, where the film is regarded as an audio-visual language and the filmmaker, therefore, a writer in light. Reflecting on this notion, André Bazin founded the influential journal Cahiers du Cinéma in 1951.

The Indian Cinematic Landscape has few of the biggest film industries which have produced vibrant and diverse films since its inception. While many film industries, such as the French, were pivotal in inspiring the Indian Film Industries, the auteurs of our industry bedazzled the world with their own colours. Auteurs of Bengali Cinema— Satyajit Ray, Mrinal Sen and Ritwik Ghatak were the creative minds of our country who had eternally changed the face of Indian filmmaking with the power of their cameras.

Our honourable speakers, Dr. Anindya Sengupta and Suavo Mukherjee will be discussing both theory and praxis on the auteurs of Indian Cinema, their authorship over their art and how they used their camera as a stylus.

- 3. Prof. Jitendra Nath Roy, Department of Physics, Kazi Nazrul University. (Speaker-3)

Topic of the speech : Implementing National Education Policy 2020: Challenges and Opportunities for Indian HEIs

No. of participants : 79

Brief Report :

A One-day international seminar-cum-workshop on NEP (National Education Policy, 2020) was jointly organised by IQAC, Durgapur Women's College and Banwarilal Bhalotia College, Asansol, on 18th July, 2023. The purpose of the seminar was to explain the opportunities and the challenges in the implementation of NEP 2020 in the undergraduate colleges affiliated to the State Universities in West Bengal. After the Inaugural session, the invited speakers—Dr. Sudipta Roy, Professor of Finance, University of St. Francis, Joliet, Illinois, USA, Dr. Amitava Basu, Principal, Banwarilal Bhalotia College, Asansol, and Dr. Jitendra Nath Roy, Professor, Department of Physics, Kazi Nazrul University, Asansol—were greeted with flower bouquets. Other important dignitaries who graced the dais with their august presence were Dr. Mahananda Kanjilal, Principal, Durgapur Women's College, Dr. Dulal Chandra Sen, Coordinator, IQAC, Durgapur Women's College and Dr. Seema Sen, Associate Professor, Department of Physics, Durgapur Women's College.

Dr. Mahananda Kanjilal
Principal
Durgapur Women's College

The program began with Dr. Mahananda Kanjilal's brief introduction to the seminar-cum-workshop. She summarised the goals of NEP 2020 by highlighting specific points such as providing universal access to quality education, equipping teachers with digital literacy skill, promoting multidisciplinary approach for all-around development, fostering growth in research and promoting equal opportunity among students by addressing the gender and the regional gaps in the Indian society. She emphasized that the NEP looked forward to building a nation of empowered and good citizens.

FIRST TECHNICAL SESSION

The first technical session commenced at 11:00 AM. The invited speakers for the first technical session were Dr. Sudipta Roy and Dr. Jitendra Nath Roy. The session was chaired by Dr. Seema Sen. Dr. Sen introduced the speakers and enlightened the audience on the history of education policies implemented by the Central Govt. since 1948. She appreciated NEP for its special initiatives to promote the learning of vernacular languages and to confer equal status to all disciplines in Indian academia.

Dr. SUDIPTA ROY

The topic of Dr. Roy's talk was "Implementing NEP 2020: Challenges and Opportunities for Indian Higher Education Institutions." She said that her views on NEP were shaped by two factors:

- i) Disruption of higher education during COVID-19
- ii) A study of how the faculties, students and the administrative bodies in the Higher Education Institutions were affected by the 'new normal' norms

Dr. Roy, who obtained a certificate in online teaching and learning a decade ago, discussed the advantages of Blended Learning, which is based on both online and offline modes, in the post-pandemic society. She explained that in blended learning the students are able to access education 24x7 according to their convenience. Her comparative analysis of the undergraduate education systems in India and the US revealed that the NEP aims to globalise the standards of Bachelors courses offered by the Indian universities. Discussing in detail about Bloom's Taxonomy, she not only explained the different levels of learning with the aid of a pyramid diagram, but also concluded that with its emphasis on multidisciplinary approach and blended learning (credit transfer system) NEP will succeed in eradicating the culture of rote learning.

Dr. Mahananda Kanjilal
Principal
Durgapur Women's College

Dr. JITENDRA NATH ROY

Dr. Jitendra Nath Roy, the second speaker of the first technical session observed that NEP 2020 unfolded a holistic approach at every level of Indian education (school, college and university) in order to promote sustainable development. Explaining the key features of NCF (UG), he illuminated the audience on the issues of multiple entry and multiple exits, Academic Bank of Credit (ABC), multi/interdisciplinary learning and learning based on Indian Knowledge Systems. He pointed out that in the present scenario a disparity in the distribution of credits has been noticed among the State universities in West Bengal. He suggested that it would have been better if all Higher Education Institutions maintain parity in this matter.

SECOND TECHNICAL SESSION

The second technical session started after the lunch break of one hour (12:45 PM-1:45 PM). The session was chaired by Dr. Dulal Chandra Sen, Coordinator, IQAC, Durgapur Women's College. The speaker for this session was Dr. Amitava Basu, Principal, Banwarilal Bhalotia College, Asansol.

Dr. AMITAVA BASU

The topic of Dr. Basu's presentation was "Curriculum and Credit Framework for Undergraduate Programmes, as per NEP 2020." He mainly discussed the challenges and opportunities of adopting the NEP in the colleges affiliated to Kazi Nazrul University, Asansol. He mentioned that as per the norms of Kazi Nazrul University, the NEP statute of multiple exits at the undergraduate level will be allowed in the colleges. He clarified that re-entry to the colleges affiliated to Kazi Nazrul University, however, will not be permitted. Dr. Basu discussed in detail the framework of credits to be followed for the undergraduate courses, from Semester I to Semester VIII, in the colleges affiliated to Kazi Nazrul University.

Dr. Basu's engaging talk was followed by a lively interaction between the audience and the invited speakers. At the end of the session, Dr. Dulal Chandra Sen, Coordinator, IQAC, Durgapur Women's College, delivered the 'Vote of Thanks.'

Teachers and students from different colleges participated in the seminar-cum-workshop. The programme ended with distribution of certificates to the participants.

A Seminar on Gender Discrimination

Organised by : Gender Sensitization Committee, Women Study Centre of Durgapur Women's College In Collaboration with BIPS

Date : 24/09/2024

Invited Speaker : Dr. Abhisek Karmakar

Assistant Professor Department of Political Science Galsi Mahavidyalaya

Patron- Dr Mahananda Kanjilal (Principal Durgapur Women's College)

Topic of the speech : Women, Society and Structural Violence in India : Mapping the Crisis of Political Representation

No. of participants : 90

Brief Report :

Through today's seminar, we came to know how gender inequality has permeated all levels of society in India. This disparity is often observed in social norms as well. Educated society could not eliminate this discrimination completely. A glaring example of how gender discrimination continues unabated despite the increase of women's education. The percentage of Indian women's in the country's political and administrative sphere. Which is far below the participation of women's in the political field in other countries of the world. Gender discrimination is a mental disorder. If now it is not destroyed, then the present and the future generations will never be able to progress towards.

SABDA 3: An International Conference on Language and Linguistics

The SABDA 3: An International Conference on Language and Linguistics is set to take place from 13th to 15th September 2024, hosted at Jadavpur University, Kolkata. Organized by a consortium of educational institutions including Baruipur College, Durgapur Women's College, P. R. Thakur Govt. College, Jadavpur University, and Dhi Publications, this conference aims to bring together scholars, researchers, and students from diverse fields to engage in meaningful discussions on various aspects of language and linguistics.

The conference will commence with an inaugural session featuring prominent speakers who will set the tone for the event. Subsequent sessions will encompass a wide range of presentations focused on critical topics such as Bengali manuscripts, regional language variations, and the socio-linguistic challenges that communities face. These presentations are expected to shed light on the evolving dynamics of language in relation to cultural and social contexts.

In addition to presentations, workshops will be an integral part of the conference, offering in-depth discussions on themes such as linguistic evolution, the preservation of endangered languages, and comparative linguistic studies across cultures. These workshops aim to provide participants with practical insights and collaborative opportunities to address the pressing issues related to language preservation and development.

Keynote speakers will include renowned professors and experts who will delve into various linguistic phenomena. Their contributions are anticipated to enrich the discourse with cutting-edge research and innovative perspectives. The conference is structured to facilitate active participation and foster an environment conducive to academic collaboration.

Shabda 3 not only seeks to address theoretical aspects of linguistics but also emphasizes the socio-cultural implications of language. By exploring how language shapes identity, community, and communication, the conference aims to highlight the integral role of language in understanding cultural and social transformations.

The event is expected to culminate in a series of discussions that will encourage participants to reflect on their learning and experiences. Ultimately, SABDA 3 aspires to be a platform for generating new insights into language development and preservation while reinforcing the importance of language studies in today's increasingly interconnected world.
